Amazing Grace

If you missed the beyond fierce Grace Jones when she was last in London, you've now got the chance to catch her again in our capital as she plays a one-off show at the Royal Albert Hall on Monday 26 April. Tickets have just gone on sale this week and will doubtless be flying, so get in there quick. The dark and divine diva has evolved the production from her devastatingly good Hurricane tour and is introducing new fashion undertones, breath-taking lasers and spectacular sets all to create a sensory and sonic utopia. Ms Jones has also collaborated with Oscar-winning costume designer Eiko Ishioka and will be showing off their teamwork for the first time in Europe.

TOP TELLY

Volver

Saturday 13 February, 11:40pm - 1:50am, Channel 4

This stylish, modern-day film noir from gifted gay director Pedro Almodovar stars a pitch-perfect Penelope Cruz. There might not be a drag queen in sight, but it still oozes camp glamour, dark humour and warmth.

The Talented Mr Ripley

Sunday 14 February, 11:35pm - 2:05am, Channel 4

Gawp at Jude Law in his prime as an American playboy living it up against a stunning Italian backdrop and watch obsession run riot.

How to Get What You Want

Monday 15 February, 9:00pm - 10:00pm, Sky1

Having trouble pulling? Well tune in to this and find out more about attraction and the role body language plays in the art of seduction. You'll never be alone again.

The BRIT Awards 2010

Tuesday 16 February, 8:00pm - 10:00pm, ITV1 London

Bizarrely presented by Peter Kay, the 30-year-old BRIT Awards shows it's still down with the kids as Lady Gaga, JLS and Cheryl Cole perform on the night.

Shrink Rap

Wednesday 17 February, 10:00pm - 11:10pm, More4

Polly Rae Competition

If you're bonkers about burlesque, you'll be happy to hear you can win tickets to see Miss Polly Rae at the Leicester Square Theatre. Miss Polly Rae and her Hurlly Burly Girlys will set a new standard in performance with the ultimate sensuous and risqué show. Polly will give her own definitive performance - singing live - an exceptional marriage of vocal talent and burlesque art. Directed by William Baker (who has spent 15 years as Kylie Minogue's Creative Director) with musical direction from celebrated producer, remixer and songwriter Steve Anderson (who has worked previously with Kylie Minogue, Take That, Michael Jackson, Britney Spears, Paul McCartney and the Pet Shop Boys) the show is set to be a multi-performance extravaganza and a first for the West End theatre-going audience.

Win one pair of five tickets to see Miss Polly Rae on 25th February 2010. To enter the competition, simply answer this question:

Which famous burlesque star was married to Marilyn Manson?

Send your answers to competition@boyz.co.uk putting 'Polly Rae' in the subject field.
